Growing Aristolochia (Dutchman's Pipe)

Latin Name Pronunciation: uh-riss-toe-low'kee-uh

Grow Dutchman's Pipe in full sun or partial shade in the North, partial shade or shade in the South and evenly moist, well-drained soil. Slow to become established, but then grows very vigorously. Prune as needed in late winter. Climbs by means of stems that twine from left to right.